PERSONAL SIGNIFICANCE

"It is something I remember having on each trip to Hungary over the years. We would always beg my mama to make that for us and also Paprikas Csirke. We also improvised on the toppings putting tomato ketchup on there and eating it with our hands."

"When I eat it and any other Hungarian dishes I do feel more connected to the culture, also when we sit and eat together it's a reminder of the strong familial traditions that are part of Hungarian lifestyle which I love."
